Subject: Proposed school (r6) insch

Hi

I am writing to raise an objection to the proposed location.

The view of dunnydeer hillfort is incredibly important to the households on denwell road (directly opposite the proposed school) we do not wish to lose that. Many have moved here because of that view.

Other concerns include the road infrastructure. Denwell road has no parking that could be classed as safe (roadside parking) and is the main route into insch from the a96. It already is frequently used as a race track and consider this incredibly dangerous directly outside a school especially as it's been frequently proposed to the council for traffic calming measures on denwell road. The crossroads at the end of denwell rd/drumrossie street are horrific at the best of times with traffic flow as it currently is. Recently a case was taken to court where 2 children were almost run down crossing with their parents. Outcome on the driver was points on licence and a fine I believe. It won't be long if the proposed school is built before a child is killed or seriously injured. This crossroads has also been brought up with the council with no luck.

I believe the site to be wholly inappropriate for a new larger school, especially when developers have an obligation to invest when they build x number of houses. They just get round it by building just under the required number therefore putting even more additional pressure on our school, wherever it is situated.

I would ask you to take into consideration the views of the residents and safety concerns and also ask that you find a more appropriate position to build.

Yours

Diana Barnard
