Care of Surrounding Countryside and Animals

In and around Potterton there are a lot of woodland and foot paths. Some of the woodland is ancient and has protected species living in them. The woodland and foot paths are used by people who have dogs and also gives children a chance to learn about animals and nature. The proposed development will take place across a small road from our ancient woodland. It will have an adverse effect on the woodlands and animals that live in them. The woodlands, especially the ancient woodland and protected species must be given the recognition and protection they deserve. The development will cause damage to Potterton's woodlands, wildlife and the environment. Potterton is Greenbelt and a housing development of this size should not have been planned for the village. This development is totally inappropriate for Potterton. There are houses in Aberdeen which can be redeveloped without touching our Greenbelt. There is every possibility the residents with lung problems such as asthma and COPD will be affected by the constant dust. Continual noise of nail guns and rumble of heavy lorries could cause mental problems in certain residents. These houses are not needed.
