

PROPOSED ABERDEENSHIRE LOCAL DEVELOPMENT PLAN 2020 RESPONSE FORM

As part of the production of the Local Development Plan, a 'Main Issues Report' was published in January 2019. The responses from these consultations have helped to inform the content of the Proposed Local Development Plan ("the Proposed Plan").

The Aberdeenshire Local Development Plan will direct decision-making on land-use planning issues and planning applications in Aberdeenshire for the 10-year period from 2021 to 2031. The Proposed Plan was agreed by Aberdeenshire Council in March 2020 as the settled view of the Council. However, the Proposed Plan will be subjected to an independent examination and is now open for public comment.

This is your opportunity to tell us if anything should be changed in the Proposed Plan, and why.

When writing a response to the Proposed Plan it is important to specifically state the modification(s) that you would wish to see to the Plan.

This is the only remaining opportunity to comment on the Proposed Plan. The reasons for any requested changes will be analysed and reported to Scottish Ministers. They will then appoint a person known as a Reporter to conduct a public examination of the Proposed Plan, focusing particularly on any unresolved issues and the changes sought.

Ministers expect representations (or responses) to be concise (no more than 2000 words) and accompanied by limited supporting documents. It is important to ensure that all of the information that you wish to be considered is submitted during this consultation period as there is no further opportunity to provide information, unless specifically asked.

Please email comments to ldp@aberdeenshire.gov.uk or send this form to reach us by 31 July 2020*.

We recommend that you keep a copy of your representation for your own records.

UPDATE 16 June 2020: Consultation period was extended from 17 July 2020 for a further two-week period.*

Modification that you wish to see (please make specific reference to the section of the Proposed Plan you wish to see modified if possible, for example Section 9, paragraph E1.1):

Section 14, page 89, Vehicle Charging Points, RD1.2

PROPOSED LDP TEXT: While all new home designs should consider including at least one home electric vehicle charging point this may not be practical for the developer or appropriate to the design of the property and remains discretionary. Workplace charging points are also discretionary but, as a guide, one charging point should be available for every 25 employees.

Electric vehicle charging points should be provided in car parking spaces used by the public, including those for major leisure and retail uses. Their provision will be managed by the application of the Standards for Road Construction Consent and Adoption.

~~MODIFICATION: While all new home designs should consider including at least one home electric vehicle charging point this may not be practical for the developer or appropriate to the design of the property and remains discretionary. Workplace charging points are also discretionary but, as a guide, one charging point should be available for every 25 employees.~~
All new residential properties and workplaces must provide electric charging points. Electric vehicle charging points ~~should~~ must be provided in car parking spaces used by the public, including those for major leisure and retail uses. Provision of charging points must be in line with supplementary guidance on parking standards. Their provision will be managed by the application of the Standards for Road Construction Consent and Adoption.

Reason for change:

Although we generally welcome the reference to electric vehicle charging points, we believe this policy needs to be strengthened for it to have a significant impact and help meet climate change commitments. The sales of electric cars are continuing to rise¹ with UK Government proposals for the ban on the sale of new petrol and diesel cars to be brought forward from 2040 to 2035². The Scotland Government has committed to phasing out new petrol and diesel cars by 2032³.

Scottish Planning Policy states that “development plans should support the provision of infrastructure necessary to support positive changes in transport technologies, such as charging points for electric vehicles” and “Electric vehicle charge points should always be considered as part of any new development and provided where appropriate”.

The proposed LDP aims to “To take on the challenges of sustainable development and climate change” (section 4.3). We believe that this policy needs to be more ambitious to support the transition to electric vehicles and ensure that developments are sustainable for the future.

We have therefore suggested alternative wording that seeks to make it clear that electric charging points should be provided in all new developments. No figure is given for any use except “workplaces” where 1 charge point for every 25 employees is suggested. This figure seems very low, with other planning policies requiring 1 in 6 spaces to have electric charge points⁴. We also note that this is an area where there is likely to be rapid changes in technology and best practice. Therefore, we suggest that reference is made to supplementary guidance on parking standards rather than committing to a figure that will quickly become out of date.
